About Reagan McVeigh

From British Columbia to Melbourne's CBD

Reagan McVeigh began her dental hygiene career in British Columbia, Canada — a province renowned for the rigour and quality of its dental hygiene education. The College of Dental Hygienists of British Columbia maintains high standards for entry and practice, and dental hygienists trained there are recognised internationally for their comprehensive clinical preparation.

After making the journey from Canada's Pacific coast to Australia in 2012, Reagan brought her internationally trained skills and perspectives to Melbourne's vibrant dental community. Over more than a decade of practice in Australia, she has integrated fully into the Australian oral health landscape while maintaining the clinical discipline and patient-centred values instilled in her Canadian training.

International Training, Local Expertise

Reagan's Canadian dental hygiene background gives her a distinctive approach to patient care. Canadian dental hygiene programs are known for their strong emphasis on comprehensive periodontal assessment, preventative care philosophy, and interprofessional collaboration — principles that translate directly and valuably into the Australian clinical environment.

Her experience working in different healthcare systems has also developed her adaptability and communication skills. Reagan is comfortable working with diverse patient populations and brings a calm, professional confidence to the dental chair that patients find reassuring.

Part of the Smile Solutions Team

At Smile Solutions — Australia's largest private dental practice — Reagan is part of a large, multidisciplinary team of hygienists, therapists, general dentists, and specialists. This collaborative environment allows her patients to benefit from seamless, integrated care: a hygiene concern identified during a routine scale and clean can be quickly co-managed with a periodontist, orthodontist, or other specialist, all under the one roof.

Smile Solutions' location in the Manchester Unity Building, one of Melbourne's most treasured heritage buildings, provides a unique and uplifting backdrop for patient care. Many patients remark that coming to Smile Solutions feels unlike any other dental visit — and Reagan embodies the welcoming, professional spirit that makes this practice exceptional.

Preventative Care as a Philosophy

At the heart of Reagan's practice is a firm belief in the power of preventative oral health care. Regular professional hygiene appointments, combined with excellent home care habits, are the most effective way to maintain long-term oral health and avoid more complex — and costly — dental treatment. Reagan works with each patient to understand their specific oral health risks and tailor a preventative plan that is realistic and achievable for their lifestyle.

She is a skilled communicator who takes pride in making oral health education accessible and motivating — helping patients understand the connection between their oral health and their overall wellbeing.

Frequently Asked Questions

*Where is Reagan originally from? Reagan is originally from British Columbia, Canada, and has been based in Australia since 2012. She brings internationally trained dental hygiene expertise to her work at Smile Solutions in Melbourne.

*What is the dental hygiene standard in British Columbia, Canada? British Columbia is known for its high standards in dental hygiene education and professional regulation. The College of Dental Hygienists of British Columbia maintains rigorous entry-to-practice requirements, and BC-trained hygienists are recognised internationally for comprehensive clinical preparation.

*How often should I see a dental hygienist? For most patients, a professional hygiene appointment every six months is recommended. However, patients with a history of gum disease, orthodontic treatment, or other risk factors may benefit from more frequent visits. Reagan will recommend an appropriate recall interval based on your individual needs.

*What happens during a scale and clean appointment? During a scale and clean (also called a professional cleaning), your hygienist removes plaque and calculus (tartar) buildup from above and below the gumline, polishes the teeth to remove surface staining, and provides personalised advice on home care. The appointment may also include a periodontal assessment to check the health of your gums and supporting bone.

*How do I book an appointment with Reagan? Call Smile Solutions on 13 13 96 or visit us at Level 1, Manchester Unity Building, 220 Collins Street, Melbourne CBD.
